

Privacy Policy

AO North America, Inc., a non-profit which offers continuing education, research, fellowship, and community development opportunities, may collect data from you that you provide to us voluntarily through this website, such as your name, postal address, e-mail address, telephone number, and other personal information. The information we collect is used to improve the content of our website, and may be used to contact you, via e-mail or by regular mail, to provide you with information that we believe may be of interest to you.

We will not sell or transfer the personal information you send to us to others outside AO North America, Inc., the AO and its entities. All information that is not personal to you or someone else; such as questions, comments, ideas and suggestions, shall be deemed to be non-confidential, and AO North America, Inc., shall be free to disclose and use the same, without any obligation whatsoever towards you, for any purpose and through any means. If at any time you do not wish us to contact you or if you have any questions concerning our privacy policy, please feel free to contact us at memberrelations@aona.org.

By choosing to send a message to AO North America, Inc., you acknowledge that all non-personal information contained in your message, including feedback data, such as questions, comments, suggestions, or the like (collectively "Feedback") will be considered to be non-confidential.

AO North America, Inc., shall have no obligations of any kind with respect to such Feedback, and shall be free to reproduce, use, disclose, exhibit, display, transform, commercialize, create derivative works and distribute the Feedback to others without limitation. For added security, your information is encrypted during transfer, however, AO North America, Inc., is not responsible for technical problems that may occur and result in others viewing your information. While using our website, we may use cookies and additional analytics data to improve the content of our website.

By using this site, you agree with the terms of this Privacy Policy. Whenever you submit information via this site, you consent to the collection, use, and disclosure of that information in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

Under no circumstances should you use our website or any of the fax and mailing addresses on the website to send AO North America, Inc., confidential or proprietary information. AO North America, Inc., does not want to receive such confidential or proprietary information. Data which is not personal, including questions, comments, ideas, and suggestions shall be deemed to be non-confidential, and AO North America, Inc., shall be free to disclose and use the same, without any obligations whatsoever towards you, for any purpose and through any means.

To keep your personally identifiable information accurate, current, and complete, please contact us as specified below. We will take reasonable steps to update or correct personally identifiable information in our possession that you have previously submitted via this site.

We take reasonable steps to protect your personally identifiable information as you transmit your information from your computer to our site and to protect such information from loss, misuse, and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction. You should keep in mind that no internet transmission is ever 100% secure or error-free. E-mail sent to or from this site may not be secure and you should take special care in deciding what information you send to us via e-mail. Moreover, where you use passwords, ID numbers, or other special access features on this site, it is your responsibility to safeguard them. Please contact us at: memberrelations@aona.org with any user access changes.

This site may contain links or references to other websites. Please be aware that we do not control other websites and that, in any case, this Privacy Policy does not apply to those websites. We encourage you to read the privacy policy of every website you visit.

Your use of this site is subject to our Legal Notice.
